4-Way Crash Hurts Woman In Halted Car

Motorist Arrested After Collision On Pennsylvania Ave.

A four-way crash Thursday night in East End injured a La-Croft woman who was a passenger in her husband's car, police reported.

Mrs. Beatrice Lunger, 55, of 6th Ave., was admitted to City Hospital for X-rays following the "chain reaction" mishap at 9:10 on Pennsylvania Ave. at Turner St., officers said. She is in "fair" condition today with a possible whiplash injury of the neck.

Mrs. Lunger was a passenger in a 1960 four-door sedan operated by her husband, Byron A. Lunger, 54, police said. Hit from the rear while halted, Lunger's car was driven forward into the rear of another car, which then struck a third halted auto, officers said.

First in line in the string of halted traffic was a 1960 four-door sedan driven by Andrew J. Myers, 18, of 3245 Harding Ave., officers said. Behind him was a 1963 model compact operated by Larry Hutton, 20, of 203 Grant St., Newell, police reported. Lunger's car was halted behind Hutton's, police said.

Officers said Lunger's car was hit from the rear by a 1958 model auto driven by Richard Baker, 23, of 938 Lisbon St. Lunger's car then hit Hutton's, which was shoved into the rear of the Myers car, police said.

There was damage to both the front and rear of the Hutton and Lunger cars, the rear of the Myers vehicle and the front of the Baker auto, police said.

Baker was cited on a reckless driving charge.

Pleading guilty when arraigned before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Baker was fined $25.

400 Chester Drivers Still Lack New Permit

An estimated 400 Chester motorists face possible penalties for lack of a valid city driver's license, officials reported today.

Only 1,257 drivers have obtained the $2 permits for 1963-64, compared to 1,664 issued last year.

Permits are available at the City Hall from Clerk-Treasurer Roy Cashdollar. The minimum fine for lack of a license is $25.

Midland Parade Breaks Record

By TOM BAKER

A record-breaking crowd estimated at 25,000 by Police Chief Ed Steff jammed Midland Thursday for the traditional July 4th celebration, highlighted by a parade that was termed "the largest ever seen in Beaver County" and climaxed by a thundering fireworks display.

Chief Steff said yesterday's crowd was well in excess of the 21,000 attracted to the 1962 celebration, which also set a new record. The crowd was swelled by 4,300 who participated in a parade of 127 units — another record. Last year's parade featured 108 units.

STEFF termed yesterday's crowd "the largest we've had yet."

The day-long program included a flag-raising ceremony at the War Memorial in Lincoln Park; the parade; an afternoon program of children's games; a concert by Jimmy Sebastian's Monaca Cornet Band; a variety show and baseball game and the night events, capped by drill team competition and the fireworks.

The program closed with a street dance at the 7th St. Playground, featuring the "Four Shades" combo.

Prize winners were announced during the evening program at the stadium.

Tops in the senior float division for the fourth consecutive year was the entry of Midland Knights of Columbus Council 2005.

MIDLAND American Legion Post 481 took second prize, the Midland Lions Club was third; the New Brighton Women's Club, fourth, and the Midland Rotary Club, fifth. Their prizes were $100, $90, $80, $70 and $60, respectively.

The entry of the Midland High School Band Boosters took first place in the junior float division. Industry Girl Scout Unit 238 was second and the Beaver County Girl Scout Council was third. The Band Boosters' float also was a winner in the junior division in 1962. Prizes were $75, $60 and $45.

THE EAST LIVERPOOL High School marching band, directed by Vincent Maola, was named the best band in the parade. The

Georgetown Boy Injured By Blast Of Firecracker

A 12-year-old Georgetown youth is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with wounds of the left hand, arm and face suffered when a firecracker exploded in his hand Thursday.

He is one of at least four area residents reported injured July 4th in firecracker mishaps.

A Wellsville man faces charges of sale of fireworks and sales of firecrackers to a minor as a result of injuries to one of the victims.

Jason Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allison of Georgetown, suffered multiple puncture wounds of the face and forehead, lacerations of the thumb and third fingers of the left hand, a cut of the forehead and multiple wounds of the right arm.

A seventh grader at the South-side High School building, the youth, with some others in a creek bottom near his home, lighted the "cherry bomb," which exploded in his hand about 3:30 p. m.

David Bailey, 11, son of Lewis Bailey of 444 Main St., Wellsville, was treated at the hospital Wednesday night for burns of the abdomen suffered when the firecracker exploded in his hand.

Paul Johnson of Erie Alley, or Jag Alley, was released on his recognizance this morning by Wellsville Mayor William Daugherty on the two charges, and is slated for a hearing Monday.

Johnson was identified as a seller of fireworks after police were notified of the injury to the

Driver Faces 4 Charges In Hit-Skip Case

Dresden Ave. Man Pursued, Nabbed, Jailed At Chester

A Dresden Ave. motorist was jailed in Chester Thursday on four traffic charges — including an accusation of drunken driving — after his car reportedly sideswiped a parked sports coupe in Chester and he was pursued across the Chester Bridge to E. 3rd St.

Chester Police Chief Clarence Lennens said Dale L. Rice, 38, of 942 Dresden Ave. remained in jail this morning on charges of driving while intoxicated, failure to stop after an accident, failure to have his car under control and driving with four persons in the front seat.

According to Chief Lennens, a 1961 sports coupe owned by George A. Allison, 937 Phoenix Ave., Chester, was parked along Carolina Ave. near 5th St. when it was sideswiped by a passing auto about 1:55 a. m.

Mrs. Isabell Allison, wife of the owner, was sitting in the parked car. She notified Chief Lennens, who was in the line of traffic, giving him a description of the other auto, which did not halt.

Lennens headed west after the auto, which crossed the bridge. He also radioed to East Liverpool police that the car was being sought.

Rice was expected to post $200 in bonds for release from jail today, Chief Lennens said.

Hearings are slated tonight for him before Mayor Harry Abrams on all charges but the one involving drunken driving. A hearing

Ohio's 4th Is Marred By Violence

4 Shot To Death, 4 Wounded; Arson Cited As 4 Perish

By The Associated Press

At least four persons were shot to death and four perished in a nonaccidental house fire as too much of the firing in Ohio on the Fourth took a far more tragic form than Independence Day aerial fireworks.

There were five separate shooting incidents, leaving four persons wounded in addition to the dead. And the fire, in Lorain, was ruled deliberately set with three children homicide victims and their mother either a homicide or suicide.

Besides all this, firearms were shot but no one was harmed when early morning rioting at Russell's Point on Indian Lake began only to be quickly nipped in the bud with the aid of tear gas.

In the Lorain fire, Mrs. Joseph Ksenich, 42, and her three children, Joan, 12, Jane, 10, and Larry, 7, were found dead in the youngsters' bedrooms. Mrs. Ksenich's husband, a 44-year-old painting contractor, was held for questioning. He told authorities he saw the house ablaze when he returned from a tavern. Officials said fires had been set in at least six parts of the house.

In Columbus, a man walked into a grill, spoke with the woman manager, Mrs. Iona Siefke, a mother of three, then drew a gun and shot her dead. The assailant, Michael White, 34, described as a former boyfriend of Mrs. Siefke, then turned the gun on himself and wounded himself in the chest. In satisfactory condition in a hospital, he faced possible homicide charges.

In Lima, neighbors heard gunfire in the home of Mrs. Anna Lee Jones, 30, before daybreak and called police, who found Mrs. Jones on a floor with a fatal wound in the temple. Her five children were asleep in the house. Mrs. Jones' estranged husband, Curtis, 29, was arrested and held for investigation.

In Cincinnati, there was another cafe shooting. Police said the manager, Herbert Jones, 38, was slain in a gunfight with a man he asked to leave for using offensive language. Jesse Hampton, 28, of Cincinnati was under police

Road Deaths Rise; Behind Record Of '61

By The Associated Press

Deaths on the nation's highways increased slowly today, but continued to run behind the record toll of 1961 as the four-day Independence Day weekend moved into its second phase.

The traffic toll numbered 179. Millions of motorists were expected to fill the highways en route to vacation spots, recreation areas and to the homes of relatives until the summer's first holiday weekend ends at midnight Sunday.

The death count began at 6 p. m. (local time) Wednesday.

The National Safety Council said the steadily rising toll was not keeping pace with the 1961 total in which a record 509 persons died on a corresponding four-day Fourth of July weekend.

The NSC has estimated 550-650 persons may die in traffic accidents during the weekend.

Three members of a northeastern Iowa family were killed Thursday when two cars collided at an intersection in West Union, Iowa.

Showdown Fight

Chinese, Khrushchev Square Off

MOSCOW (AP)—A Communist Chinese delegation arrived in Moscow today for a showdown battle with Premier Khrushchev over control of world communism.

The outcome could determine the future of hundreds of millions of persons for years to come. The Kremlin conference was the most dramatic peak in communism's quarrels, far overshadowing the 1948 split between Stalin and President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Despite a last-minute exchange of angry charges, the Kremlin sent the head of its delegation to the airport to meet the Chinese. He is Mikhail Suslov, 60, member of the powerful party Presidium. With him was a large delegation of party officials.

The Chinese delegation was led by the Chinese Central Committee general secretary, Teng Hsiao-ping, 60.

The delegation arrived about a half hour late aboard a big Soviet TU104 jet airliner.

Also on hand were nearly 200 Chinese residents of Moscow, headed by the smiling Chinese ambassador, Pan Tzu-li.

Mounting charges and counter-charges between Moscow and Peking apparently doomed chances of any real accord between the Communist giants.

At issue is Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence with the West versus Mao Tse-tung's insistence that war and violent revolution are necessary to achieve Communist domination of the world.

The basic quarrel is who is to have the right to interpret the principles laid down by Lenin, founder of the first Communist state—Russia.

The Soviet Union accused the Chinese of slandering, meddling and

Wirtz Talks Again With Both Sides

Describes Situation As Deadly Serious; Could Idle 700,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz meets again today with both sides in the railroad dispute to outline steps the government may take if an agreement is not reached by midnight next Wednesday.

Wirtz, calling the situation deadly serious, held an Independence Day conference at the White House with President Kennedy on the threat of a nationwide rail tie-up. He said they discussed specific possibilities, presumably ranging from voluntary arbitration to congressional legislation.

Wirtz said the suggestions would be presented to the meeting of railroad and union representatives, but that they contained nothing new. Although he said he was "not going to give up hope," the secretary indicated chances of a negotiated settlement are not bright.

A strike would affect virtually all U.S. railroads and could idle up to 700,000 workers.

The dispute centers around the announced intention of the railroads to institute new work rules, doing away with thousands of jobs which they say are not necessary. They call such jobs "featherbedding."

The unions involved—representing about 200,000 workers—claim present work rules must be maintained for safe operation of the trains.

They had warned they would strike immediately if the rules changes were put into effect. And a rail labor spokesman has reported the unions have been notified the rules changes will become effective July 11, the day after the bargaining deadline.

Kennedy has warned both sides that if they are unable to reach an agreement by the deadline he will ask Congress for "new legislation which will protect the public

Bright Skies, Breeze Mark Area Holiday

Nature's own air conditioning provided pleasant weather in the Tri-State area for the July 4th observance, which drew large crowds to parks and pools, as well as several community celebrations.

Although the sky was brilliant all day under a bright sun, the mercury hovered generally in the mid-70's, providing pleasant weather for all sorts of outings.

And the sun was warm enough to please all the thousands who romped in bathing suits or shorts.

The Ohio weatherman missed the boat with a prediction of possible showers in the afternoon. Not a cloud darkened the sky all day.

The mercury took a dive last night, falling to a low in the 40's in the suburbs. Today also will be fair and mild with a high of 78-86. The low tonight will hit 50 to 60. Saturday also will be fair and mild.

Only 281 persons used the municipal swimming pool in Thompson Park — lowest number on a July 4 holiday in several years, according to William Bell, superintendent.

He estimated there were about 2,000 visitors in the park through-

Demonstration At Baltimore

Top Clergymen Arrested In Bid To Integrate Park

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church, and other Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergymen were arrested when they attempted to integrate an amusement park near Baltimore in a massive Independence Day demonstration.

At least 36 clergymen were arrested. The police docket in suburban Woodlawn, where the Gwynn Oak amusement park is located, read like a religious who's who.

All were charged under Maryland's trespass law which permits the owner of a business to refuse entrance to any person he wishes.

Sixty-nine demonstrators who had to be carried from the park also were charged with disorderly conduct.

To the hundreds of patrons who had flocked to the 68-acre park for a July 4th picnic complete with roller-coaster rides, ferris wheel and carnival barkers, the demonstration was just added excitement. Most ignored the integrated protesters, but a few stopped to jeer as police walked and carried them to commandeered school buses and patrol wagons.

"Take 'em all. Lock 'em up and throw away the key. It looks like a revival meeting," were among the catcalls. A few cherry bombs were tossed, but for the most part everything was orderly.

will be scheduled on that charge when results of a blood test are received, the chief said.

He estimated damage to the Allison car at about $130, and damage to Rice's 1956 sedan at about $200.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Phyllis McCoy of Georgetown, a passenger in the car, was fined $10 and costs each on charges of intoxication and using indecent and profane language after being found guilty today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Patrolman Jerry Adkins testified he had been at the scene once but left when Rice agreed to return to Chester. He received another call and returned to find Mrs. McCoy cursing Chief Lennens, he said.

Officer Adkins said he and the Chester chief had to wrestle Mrs. McCoy to the ground and handcuff her before they could get her into the cruiser.

In her testimony, Mrs. McCoy said: "I just got mad all at once."

She said she became angry when she saw an officer removing beer her husband had purchased from Rice's car. She testified she had "only two beers."

Mrs. McCoy told the court there were 10 in the car, including her six children. She identified Rice as the driver of the auto.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Chertoff said he had to consider all the circumstances.

"And one of the circumstances is Dale Rice. I know him. If you were with him, you were drinking," he said.

Leetonia Man Quits Election

A Democratic candidate for the Board of Public Affairs in Leetonia today asked the County Election Board to withdraw his name.

Michael P. Perry Jr. told the board he must withdraw as a candidate because he has accepted a Civil Service position as a substitute clerk in the Post Office. Perry and James M. Ciminelli were nominated without opposition. Under Ohio's "no contest" law, no Democratic primary was held in the village.

Because of a technicality, the East Palestine Board of Education has notified the Election Board it has rescinded a resolution asking renewal of a 3-mill levy at the Nov. 5 general election and submitted a new levy totaling 3 mills.

The new levy asks renewal of 2.6 mills and an increase of four-tenths of a mill. The change was necessitated because tax levies were cut back following the property reappraisal to produce the same amount of money as previously.

United Local Board of Education also has certified a resolution asking renewal of a 6-mill operating levy for five years, the board said.

and costs and had his driver's license suspended for 30 days. He told the court the brakes failed on his car.

Meanwhile, Samuel Caplan, 67, of 2625 St. Clair Ave., was injured when his 1962 model sedan struck a utility pole Thursday at 9:45 a.m. on St. Clair Ave. 200 feet south of Armstrong Ln., police said.

Caplan was treated at his home by a physician for a hand injury and later was taken to the hospital for X-rays, police said.

Caplan told police he pulled out of a driveway and headed south on St. Clair when "something happened" to the steering mechanism of the car, causing it to swerve to the right and hit the pole.

The crash broke the windshield of the car and damaged the right front fender, bumper and grill, police said.

Police cited him on a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license.

A hearing for Caplan was set for July 16 after he telephoned the court to ask a continuance. The police report showed Caplan's license expired last Oct. 1.

No one was injured in a collision Thursday at 2:51 p.m. at Lincoln Ave. and Smith St., officers reported.

The crash involved a 1950 sedan driven by Charles E. Allison, 19, of Shadyside Ave. and a 1956 sedan driven by Geraldine I. Grimm, 56, of 422 Walnut St., officers said.

The crash damaged the left side of the Allison car and the left front fender and bumper of the Grimm car, police said.

Allison told police he was making a left turn off Lincoln Ave. onto Smith St. The woman motorist said she was turning right from Smith St. to Lincoln but did not cut the wheels sharply enough and hit the Allison car.

Date May Be Set To Launch City's Street Program

A date for start of a low cost street surfacing program may be set today when a representative of the Ohio Valley Paving Corp. of St. Clairsville confers with Safety-Service Director Robert Owen.

The St. Clairsville firm was awarded the contract for the summer work Tuesday by the Board of Control and on its low bid of 33.9 cents per square yard for 20,000 square yards of surfacing.

Property owners and the city split the cost of the work, with the householders' share amounting to 17 cents per lineal foot for an 18-foot wide street. The city will pay another 17 cents a foot plus the cost of intersections, with the money coming from income tax receipts.

About 18 petitions already have been filed by neighborhood groups asking improvement of unpaved streets.

The Pittsburgh Rockets Drum and Bugle Corps also appeared in a crowd-pleasing exhibition of precision marching and drills. It was not entered in competition.

BEFORE leaving the field, the musical units stood in a moment of silent tribute to O. N. Carter, superintendent of the Blooming Mill at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and executive member of the July 4th committee, who died last year.

A capacity crowd estimated at 7,000 filled the stands and lined the fence to see the competition. The judging was in charge of five representatives of the All-American Drum and Bugle Corps Association and an official of the National Drum and Bugle Corps Association.

A CROWD estimated at 3,000 attended the afternoon concert and variety program, with Chuck Wilson of Beaver Falls as master of ceremonies, and the children's races held at Lincoln Park.

In a Junior Legion baseball game at Crucible Field, the team of Midland Post 481 defeated East Liverpool Post 374, 8-7.

The Midland Knights of Columbus presented prizes to winners in the annual art exhibition, which officials said has drawn record crowds to the old high school gymnasium. The top winners were Gail Conrad of Meadville, Pa., and John Chuldenko and Jack Webb, both of Midland.

THE MORNING parade, under way at 10:30, continued for about two and a half hours. It featured 20 musical units and 14 floats that ranged in size from one powered by a lawn mower to another built on a semi-trailer truck. Seven high school bands were in the line of march, including those of Midland, East Liverpool and Western Beaver.

Additional prize-winners will be announced when the Executive Committee holds a special meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Borough Building to approve payment of bills. Mayor Eli Corak is general chairman.

Various police assisting with traffic included Midland officers and firemen, Crucible plant protection personnel, the Civil Defense auxiliary police, state police and officers from neighboring boroughs.

Mrs. Sarah Nalley of Congo Rd., Newell, was treated at City Hospital at 9 p.m. for abrasions and a small burn of the left knee received, she told hospital authorities, when someone walking past her home threw a firecracker into the yard.

Police at Midland said a Beaver man suffered abrasions of the right cheek when struck by a firecracker tossed at a public dance at 7th St. about 11:15 p.m. Joseph Maridon, 20, was hit in the face by the explosive thrown by an unidentified person, police reported.

Can The Man Mean It?

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has a curious outlook on the civil rights debate in Congress.

He says it will be a test of the Republican party's reason for existence.

This is contrary to the point of view that it will be a test of the Democratic party's right to claim Negro votes in next year's national election.

Democrats have enough members in the Senate and House to push through any program that commands their support.

But the cold fact is that civil rights cannot command Democratic support now and never could.

THERE WOULD BE no civil rights move by the Kennedy administration if Negro militancy had not made some move essential at this time.

The Truman and Roosevelt administrations showed no enthusiasm for an aggressive civil rights move.

Negroes made more progress under the Eisenhower administrations than they made under a succession of Democratic administrations.

Yet the principal spokesman for NAACP told the National Community Relations Advisory Council at Atlantic City that the Republican party is responsible for passing an adequate civil rights bill this year.

He relieved the Democratic party, which Negroes have been backing heavily in the North, of all responsibility, though Democrats have the votes. He ignored the schism that keeps the Democratic party from handling this problem as a national party.

IF THIS reflects the thinking of any considerable number of Negroes, they have missed the point of a two-party system.

The system produces results because it gives voters an alternative. If they choose to stick to one party regardless of its performance, they can expect nothing from the other.

What's Beyond Repair?

Palms must be moist in Cleveland, where urban renewal prospects have been clouded by the U.S. General Accounting Office.

GAO inspectors have raised questions about municipal standards for deciding what constitutes a building ripe for demolition. They have clouded some decisions about buildings already ticketed for destruction and some potential decisions about other buildings to be ticketed later.

The net effect of the skepticism is to make Clevelanders pushing the Erieview project wonder if they can claim all the federal money they were counting on to put their plans into effect. Otherwise, their plans might have to be cut back to the hurting point. If their privilege of clearing urban land for redevelopment, using federal funds and federal prestige and authority under a policy of eliminating blighted areas, were to be restricted, there would be a cooling down of enthusiasm.

This is the possible effect of the GAO report.

Anthony Celebrezze, former mayor of Cleveland and now secretary of health, education and welfare, has a special interest; Erieview was begun while he was mayor. But if the federal government looked skeptically at classifying as ready for demolition buildings that could be repaired, for the sake of clearing whole areas for rebuilding, the concept of urban renewal would undergo confidence-shattering revision. Cleveland would be on its own.

Help Is On The Way

By Truman Twill

A professor of psychology at the University of California, Los Angeles, may have good news for you, dear readers.

If you're between 30 and 60 and get to wondering whether, let Dr. Milton E. Hahn tell you about it in his own words:

"There is a crucial period in the lives of most of this group when professional psychology help would be of value. This time usually is between the 40th and 60th birthdays, when the personal ladder ends at the ceiling. It is a time for stock-taking, when doubts may creep in. Has the last chance to change or progress gone by?"

What happens when an ordinary guy knows he is not going to surge ahead to become president of the United States, president of the company, not even president of his Sunday school class?

What happens to women whose careers as wives and mothers are dead-ended, with nothing to look forward to but baby-sitting, further broadening of the middle-age spread and perhaps someday getting tapped as corresponding secretary of the Poplar Avenue Sewing and Slander Circle?

What is next on the agenda for people with nothing to look forward to but the final payments on 20-year mortgages and the art of mastering full lower dentures?

What is there to feel bushy-tailed about when tomorrow is just another day, next week another week, next month another month and next year another year?

How do men and women in an affluent society face up to that moment of truth when they realize they are never going to catch up to the carrot, whereas the stick is in daily contact with their fundaments?

Where do people look for comfort when they understand what the Pennsylvania Dutchman was talking about when he signed, "Too soon old, too late smart"?

Who has anything to add to the sizeup that goes like this: Everything worth looking forward to has happened; only the unpleasant happenings still lie ahead?

People like this are not mentally sick. They are normal. But Dr. Hahn thinks they need help — not to change the picture but convince them they can live with it.

Fact is, they do live with it. They kick it, throw stones at it, make fun of it, resent it, try to touch it up and try to shut it out of their minds. But they do learn to live with it. All Dr. Hahn has to say is that psychology might speed up the process of becoming reconciled.

It's as good as done, doc. See you on your next open date. It will be seven years from now, because the waiting line was a mile long before this reached you? That's OK. Just as long as help is on the way.

Hottest Summer

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — This will be President Kennedy's third and hottest summer in the White House.

Five things come to mind:

1. He has talks, through his representatives, coming up in 10 days with the British and Russians in Moscow on a nuclear test ban.

2. He still has to get his program through a tardy Congress.

3. He still has to get his civil rights program through.

4. Negroes are planning a massive Washington demonstration to convince Congress they want the civil rights program.

5. He has to do everything else that goes with his job and probably some unexpected things.

There was little optimism about the test ban talks until this week when in East Germany Soviet Premier Khrushchev seemed to hint he might agree to a ban on atmospheric and underwater tests. But he didn't include a ban on underground tests.

If there was optimism over this it got diluted because on a second look Washington wasn't sure he said he'd agree to a test ban if it were linked with a nonaggression pact.

Kennedy doesn't know at this point, and neither does anyone else, what's going to happen to his civil rights program or whether the struggle and ill will engendered by that will hurt the rest of his program for the year.

He has to fight for it until Negroes showed no signs of suggesting it until Negroes showed the country showed by their demands for equality that they wanted action.

He had done little to antagonize the Southern Democrats whose help he needs for his general program in Congress and whose votes he may need when he tries for reelection in 1964.

But Negroes and Southern Democrats will both be watching how much he fights for civil rights.

He'll be adroit, indeed if he comes out of this fight without antagonizing one side or the other.

But just about the time the fight in Congress is supposed to be reaching a peak on civil rights — at the end of August — Negroes plan their great demonstration.

It is not being called a march on Washington and the announced purpose is to have a peaceful demonstration. But the number of participants is now being talked of as 100,000 or 150,000.

With that many people taking part-plus the thousands who will be watching them, including some not sympathetic to the Negroes at all — both Kennedy and the police department can only hope that trouble doesn't start.

And, adding to his problem, there are mixed views as to whether the demonstrations, intended to show the Negroes' determination to get equality, will hurt them in Congress.

Meanwhile, demonstrations in other cities between now and then, all of them unpredictable as to outcome, will be building up to the big show here in August.

No one knows better than Kennedy that the way he handles all this could help him tremendously or hurt him terribly in his desire for a second term.

Odd Facts

Transportation charges consume about 10 cents of every dollar we spend on various commodities. As an example, you could knock roughly $300 off the price of a $3,000 car if, beginning with the hauling of the ore, there were no transportation charges.

The letter "O" in the military abbreviation "A.W.O.L." for "Absent Without Leave" has no real meaning. It was originally adopted, instead of "A.W.L." to eliminate possible confusion with "Absent With Leave."

According to one authority of early automobile history, there have been more than 2,200 automobiles of various makes manufactured in the United States during this century. And also, more than 100 different makes of steam-powered cars were built during that time.

The Old Testament of the Bible consists of 39 Books, 929 chapters, 33,214 verses and 563,493 words. The New Testament contains 27 Books, 260 chapters, 7,939 verses and 161,253 words.

We Already Have A Space Program

Labor Tells Its Latin-American Story

By George Meany

(While Victor Riesel is en route to South America, his column will be conducted by a number of guest writers. Today's column is by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.)

The one most persuasive reason I agreed to be a guest columnist for Victor Riesel this year is the area he is visiting on his annual overseas trip.

Latin America occupies more than half the Western Hemisphere. The southern tip of Texas barely dips below the 26th northern parallel; from there to the Equator, and the whole stretch from the Equator to land's end at Tierra del Fuego, is Latin territory.

Latin America is not only vast in size but, because of its location if for no other reason, obviously of vast importance to the United States. Yet, until comparatively recent years, our country made no real effort to make friends of our southern neighbors on a basis of equality and mutual respect.

IT WOULD take the space of many columns to review that unhappy story. Rather than do that—or even to recite the better record of the labor movement—let us look at the more promising present.

Through the Alliance for Progress program the United States is at last making a comprehensive effort to create the economic, social and political conditions that will make stable, democratic societies possible in Latin America.

The program is far from faultless but it deserves the interest and support of us all.

There is another Latin American program under way as well—one that is in some ways more dramatic. It is being conducted by the American Institute for Free Labor Development, now slightly more than a year old.

This institution was conceived by the AFL-CIO and is supported by funds from labor, business and government.

As its own statement of purposes declared, it is "dedicated to the strengthening of a free society through the development of free and democratic trade unions in the Americas."

IT'S A MEASURE of this country's growing awareness of Latin America's needs that corporation funds help to support that aim.

In the narrow sense the institute is a school. The students are young, freedom-loving Latin American trade unionists, carefully chosen by their own labor organizations in consultation with the Inter-American representatives of the AFL-CIO.

They are brought to Washington, 35 or 40 at a time, for a three-month course that embraces both union techniques and the successful practice of democracy. Those who graduate are then supported for nine additional months, back in their own countries, to assure them of a chance to begin putting what they have learned to good use.

This is not a brainwashing operation, intended to dictate a course of action. Each applicant for admission must first have devised a project he hopes to carry out. Thus the institute's role is to assist these young Latin Americans to do more effectively what they had already decided should be done.

THREE CLASSES have been graduated thus far, and a fourth is now under way. But the real story is not what goes on in Washington.

The real story is what your touring columnist will discover on the Latin American scene, both on the mainland and in the Caribbean islands.

As President Kennedy told the first graduating class, at a ceremony in the Rose Garden of the White House:

"Because the labor movement in this country has looked beyond its immediate responsibilities to its members and to its responsibilities to society as a whole, I think it has fulfilled a great role in our country. I hope that you will fill the same role."

I hope Victor Riesel will search out the evidence; and if he does, I know what he will find.

He will find some 120 young men, the first three classes graduated by the institute, creating and strengthening free, democratic unions where they had never before existed.

He will find them locked in battle against the Communist infiltrators trained in Castro's Cuba.

HE WILL FIND them, preaching and teaching the democratic way of life, holding classes where their countrymen can learn how a union works, what democracy means, how to spot and smother Communist tactics, how to guard against dictators and demagogues from the right or the left.

He will find trade union training schools, schools for democracy, in Venezuela, in Peru, in Panama and half a dozen other nations. He will learn that the "multiplier effect" of institute graduates, 35 or 40 of them every four months, is likely to alter the whole course of history in Latin America.

That is what the American labor movement is doing today in Latin America, and it is one of the great, unreported stories of our time.

Nor is this a static operation. The day is in sight when all the primary training will be done in the Latin American schools, manned largely by Institute alumni.

The Washington headquarters can then be used for advanced training, drawing from the most promising local graduates.

ARRANGEMENTS have already been made for selected Institute graduates to pursue their studies in West Germany, Italy and Israel, where they will learn of other problems and other approaches to the common ideal of a democratic society.

I have met all the young men who have undergone training up to now. I have been deeply impressed by them. It would be unrealistic to expect all of them to succeed but I am sure that very few of them will fail for lack of dedicated effort.

To me, this is one of the most exciting undertakings in the history of the labor movement, for the future of more than half a hemisphere depends upon it. If that excitement, and that sense of importance, is not reflected in the subsequent dispatches of Victor Riesel, I shall be greatly disappointed — and very much surprised.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The state relief commission allowed Columbiana County $34,334 for July relief purposes, a reduction of 7 per cent from the initial request.

Members of the Grafton family held their annual reunion at the old homestead near Hammondsville.

The annual outing of the Benevolent Order of Goats of the First Church of Christ was held at Pine Ridge Camp, with Miss Helen North reading the anthology of the organization.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — C.L. Wetzel of Lisbon was named vice commander of the 10th District of the American Legion.

Robert Davis was installed as noble grand of the East Liverpool Odd Fellows lodge.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Lois Burdick was received as a new member of the D. D. Club at the home of Mrs. Maxine Clark of St. George St.

Mrs. William Silverman was seated as president of the Midland Band Boosters and Mrs. William Spisak as vice president.

New Yorkers travel farther up and down in Manhattan than they do on the level. The tall buildings make it necessary for them to travel more vertically than horizontally.

The Vatican Mission

By David Lawrence

Diplomatic Relations Speculated Again

There must be a "wall of separation" between church and state, says the Supreme Court of the United States. In public schools supported by government money, even a brief prayer is not permitted by the court.

Now some new questions are being asked: Did President Kennedy, wisely David Lawrence or unwisely, ignore the separation doctrine when he presented, as a gift to Pope Paul VI, a gilt desk box on the lid of which are engraved not only the papal seal but the seal of the President of the United States, which is usually reserved for imprint on official communications?

Was this symbolic, rather than indicative of a formal relationship such as might occur naturally between heads of state?

Diplomatic niceties were brushed aside also when the Pope himself, in the presence of the President on Tuesday, made an address in which he said in part: "We are ever mindful in our prayers of the efforts to ensure to all our citizens the equal benefits of citizenship which have as their foundation the equality of all men because of their dignity as persons and children of God."

This comment on what some might call a problem of internal politics — the racial controversy in the United States — illustrates the tendency nowadays to ignore the rigid lines of formality with respect to matters within a country which are deemed to have a distinctly moral aspect when viewed from the outside.

THIS HAS always been the traditional Vatican attitude, though lately, out of a kind of new deference perhaps to the power of the Soviet Union in the world, there has been less outright condemnation of Communism and of the persecution of Christians that was so unequivocally expressed in previous years.

Two other presidents besides Mr. Kennedy have visited the Vatican. President Wilson in January 1919 had a private audience with Pope Benedict XV, who then received the members of the President's party and newspapermen, in which latter group this correspondent happened to be.

The visit was important at the time because President Wilson was anxious to mobilize world opinion behind the League of Nations and realized the support of the Vatican meant much in Latin America and in other countries where the Catholic religion was embraced by a majority of the people.

It was in December 1959 that President Eisenhower, in the course of a worldwide tour—also in behalf of the cause of peace—had a half-hour visit with Pope John XXIII at the Vatican.

It started speculation at the time as to whether the call was a possible forerunner of diplomatic recognition of the papal regime by the United States. The elaborate trappings of a state visit were omitted to avoid giving that impression.

Pope John requested, however, that the Star Spangled Banner be played and that special marks of respect be given. The discussion centered on efforts to relax world tension and advance the cause of peace.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S conference with Pope Paul came at a critical time in world affairs when the moral forces of mankind are being mobilized to help influence the Russian people to develop a government which will join the free nations in removing the fear of nuclear war.

Mr. Kennedy happens to be the first Roman Catholic to be elected president of the United States, and it is doubtful whether he would wish to revive the question of diplomatic recognition of the Vatican by the American government because of the impact of such a proposal on domestic politics.

It's perhaps not generally realized that the United States had consular representatives at the Vatican from 1797 to 1848, while papal consular officials served uninterruptedly in the United States from 1826 to 1895.

Regular diplomatic relations were initiated in 1848, with the establishment of an American legation at the Vatican. This mission continued until 1867, when Congress refused to appropriate further funds.

Since 1892 the Vatican has been represented in Washington by an apostolic delegation in a large and handsome residence, but the delegation has never been accorded diplomatic status by the American government.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1939 sent Myron C. Taylor to the Vatican as his personal representative during World War II.

Mr. Taylor continued in the same capacity under the Truman administration until 1950.

President Truman in 1951 submitted to the Senate the name of Gen. Mark W. Clark to be American ambassador to the Vatican. It was a formal move to establish full diplomatic relations.

STRONG OPPOSITION to the idea developed, and Gen. Clark requested that his name be withdrawn from nomination. No other nominee was submitted for approval by the Senate and the whole plan was dropped.

So there is at least a precedent for proposing diplomatic relations with the Vatican. Talk of it often arises largely because of the desire to achieve a liaison status with a most influential instrumentality in the world of diplomacy.

Whether this will ever come about while a Roman Catholic is president of the United States or whether it will be achieved some day when a protestant is president is one of the questions which is the subject of considerable speculation among political observers.

It's given renewed attention whenever a president and a Pope engage in private conference at Rome.

Do Kids Eat Too Much?

By Joseph R. Hixson

"That's Buddy's third helping. Boy, can that kid put it away. No wonder; he's only 10 and already he's 5 feet, 5 tall. You should have seen him catch that pass in the game last Friday."

Americans like to see their children eat with enthusiasm, grow like weeds and compete like professionals in the cherished American sports, football, basketball and baseball.

But specialists in nutrition, and in childhood and physical medicine aren't as enthusiastic as many parents.

At the recent American Medical Association meeting in Atlantic City these doctors warned that we don't know enough about the results of fast growth in later life, that over-fed children develop more fat-holding cells that will always be with them, that contact sports played too early are too risky.

Dr. John B. Houmans, former dean of Vanderbilt University College of Medicine and respected senior authority on nutrition, reminded doctors attending a panel on the subject, that we aren't raising our children for the slaughter house.

HE SAID, "Optimum nutrition for man is not the same thing as optimum nutrition for farm animals." In the last 50 years, said Dr. Youmans, American boys have grown 6 to 8 per cent taller and 12 to 15 per cent heavier. Girls are entering the period of their fertility earlier, he said.

But is all this speed in physical development healthy? Dr. Youmans, now at the United Health Foundation in New York, isn't at all sure it is.

He wonders whether the rapid early growth of children may not make them more susceptible to the degenerative diseases later in life, diseases such as hardening of the arteries.

In another part of the vast AMA gathering doctors were pummeling glib generalities about physical fitness and the enthusiasm for heavy contact sports at an early age.

Dr. Harold M. Sterling of Tufts College of Medicine, Boston, branded as untrue the recent alarmed reports that American boys and girls are "dangerously unfit." He said the President's Council on Youth Fitness was applying meaningless tests in attempts to determine whether American youth are soft.

Dr. Sterling said that in almost all cases of chronic inability to pass exercise tests the children were suffering from a disease condition that could be more quickly and accurately detected and treated by doctors.

Pediatrician Thomas C. Cook of Berkeley, California, said that most exercise programs for younger children don't take into consideration their proper rates of growth and development.

Officials Set Meeting With Boys In Fight

East Liverpool and Wellsville youths involved in a fight Tuesday night were to meet at 1 p.m. today in Wellsville City Hall with Columbiana County authorities.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said at Lisbon the meeting was arranged by James Miller, investigation officer for Juvenile Court, and Chief Deputy Robert Beresford.

The fight came to light late Tuesday when William Long, 19, of Center St., Wellsville, was treated at City Hospital for bruises and a cut leg.

Sheriff VanFossan said the fight "did not amount to much."

It started between two boys, one from Wellsville and one from East Liverpool, who went home and got their friends, he said. None had weapons, the sheriff said.

The meeting was called "to stop this kind of thing before it gets out of hand and someone gets hurt," the sheriff said.

The initial report said 8 or 10 youths were involved in the fracas.

The sheriff's office said the battle began in the vicinity of Smiths Ferry and the contending youths later met in an area outside East Liverpool.

Long was hurt when he was knocked or pushed over a bank alongside a road, the sheriff's office said in the initial report.

out the day, and picnicking facilities all were reserved. Bell said the air at the swimming pool was "a little chilly," accounting for the slow click of the turnstiles. Large crowds are expected Sunday if the weather is warm, Bell said.

Holiday traffic flow in the area was moderately heavy Thursday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported, and not as great as in some previous years. Traffic was normal today, officers said.

At East Palestine, over 5,000 watched a fireworks display at the City Park Thursday, police estimated. No traffic mishaps were reported.

The turnout at Tomlinson Run State Park near Pughtown was about average for July 4 — an estimated 5,000 visitors to the picnic areas and 500 patrons at the outdoor swimming pool along State Route 2.

N. T. Holbrook, park superintendent, said about 50 persons rented boats at the park lake. Cool weather held the number of swimmers at the pool to about the same figure as last year.

Considering past Independence Day holidays arriving in mid-week, the park attendance this Sunday should top the 5,000 figure, Holbrook estimated.

"There's always a big crowd on the Sunday following July 4," the veteran superintendent said.

In Barberton, police arrested an expectant mother, Mrs. Alice Sammons, who has six children, and said she had fired the shot-gun blast in the face which killed her estranged husband, Oliver, 25. He was visiting her and they had argued, police said.

Akron had a gun battle which left a policeman seriously wounded and his assailant shot in the knee. The officer, Patrolman Randall Van Scoy, and a fellow policeman were trying to break up a fight outside a cafe. Officers said James Hargroves, 26, of Akron, wrenched away the gun of Patrolman William Wilcox and shot Van Scoy in the abdomen and shoulder. Van Scoy fired five shots at Hargroves but the latter wasn't hit until Wilcox picked up the wounded policeman's pistol and fired at the fleeing man.

50 Rioters Arrested At Ohio Resort Area

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP) —State, county and local peace officers, having had to cope with Fourth of July youth riots here the previous two years, were well prepared to put one down quickly Thursday.

That they did as, sure enough, rowdy reveling erupted not long after midnight on the shores of Indian Lake.

Some 50 rioters were hauled from this resort area to the Logan County Jail at Bellefontaine. Their arrangements were scheduled in Bellefontaine today.

All told, said Sheriff Donald M. Horn, there were "about 500 active participants and a cheering section of 3,000" involved in the whirling-ding. Most of them were of college age, but five juveniles were among those arrested.

Sheriff's forces, highway patrolmen and community police closed bars and used tear gas to restore order by about 2:15 a.m. and assure a quiet day of relaxation for the thousands of swimmers, boaters, fishermen and amusement park customers.

Shouting and shooting of firearms and fireworks had begun to progress into rioting when the officers called a halt. As usual, high spirits sent higher by beer seemed to be to blame.

Police Impound Car In Hit-Skip Death

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—A Fostoria youth was sent home by sheriff's deputies Thursday after he said he may have been involved in a hit-skip traffic accident. Deputies impounded his car, however, for study.

The victim of the accident was Douglas Allen Smith, 18, found dead in the center of a Loudon Township road near Bascom by a motorist early Thursday.

Deputies said the Fostoria youth, who has not been charged, came to the sheriff's office after hearing of Smith's death during a radio newscast and recalled running over what he thought were some bags or stones on the road about that time.

City Woman, 60, Hurt In Darlington Mishap

A city woman remains in "fairly good" condition today at Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls with injuries suffered in a two-car crash Tuesday evening on the Enon Valley-East Palestine Rd. in Darlington Township.

Mrs. Marie Crytzer, 60, of 174 Thompson Ave. suffered fractures of the left thigh and lower right leg and bruises and abrasions.

Darlington Township Police Chief Russell T. Walton said Mrs. Crytzer's car and another driven by John Wosky, 51, of Enon Valley R.D. 1 collided on the crest of a hill during a heavy rainstorm. Mrs. Crytzer's car was headed toward East Palestine.

Both cars were demolished, the officer said.

Then Weaver began digging his foxhole to make a stand against the officers. He lay down all his weapons but one while he dug.

It was then that Benson fired. "When the policeman shot, it

Hearings are scheduled tonight before the Woodlawn trial magistrate. Some of the demonstrators — perhaps all — may request postponements.

More than 200 of the nearly 400 who took part in the protest came from New York City and Philadelphia in buses.

Among the prominent churchmen rounded up by more than 50 Baltimore County police officers assigned to the park were:

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church; Bishop Daniel Corrigan of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church; the Rev. Roderick French of the World Council of Churches; the Rev. William Sloan Coffin, Yale University chaplain. All but Coffin are from New York.

Prominent Maryland clergymen booked at the Woodlawn Police Station included Dr. Furman L. Templeton, chairman of the National Presbyterian Interracial Council and executive director of the Baltimore Urban League; the Rev. Joseph Connolly, a Catholic priest and co-chairman of the Baltimore Interfaith Committee for Human Rights, and Rabbi Morris Lieberman, co-chairman of the Interfaith Committee for Human Rights.

oners were taken to a hospital for treatment of minor burns.

Early Thursday, Deputy Alan Finch, 43, escorted Weaver to the bathroom. The burly prisoner overpowered Finch, wrestled his gun away and shot him in the abdomen. Finch died.

Weaver returned to the hospital room where Deputy Aron Creel, 40, guarded the other prisoners. He shot Creel twice in the face and head and took his gun. Creel died.

Hubert Mayo of Marianna, visiting his ailing father, heard the gunfire, stepped out of his father's room and was shot in the back of the head by Weaver. Mayo died.

The other three prisoners refused to accompany Weaver when he left the hospital.

The 200-pound prisoner, a barrel-chested man, crossed the street to a house and at gunpoint forced Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Sargaree and their young daughter to accompany him in their car.

Fifty miles to the north, in the vicinity of Donalsonville and Colquitt, Ga., the fleeing killer released his unarmed hostages. He kept their car.

Continuing his mad dash, he eluded state patrolmen but two Georgia Bureau of Investigation officers sighted him near Smithville, Ga. They pursued in a wild chase and he fired at them through the car's rear window.

"He almost turned over twice," said Lt. W. T. Beauchamp. "When he got to Smithville, he took a city street and made a turn onto the school ground on a dead-end street."

"I started to get out with my shotgun. He jumped out of the car and took three boys hostages. He told us if we didn't throw down our guns he would kill the boys. He was holding two guns, one of them cocked at one boy's head."

Beauchamp said he and Sgt. W. D. Cochran had no choice but to surrender their guns and car. Weaver took young Hale, a small boy of 14, kept a pistol cocked at his head and drove off.

"That was when I was really scared for the boy," said Beauchamp. "He had my gun and it was a hair trigger."

Richard said later: "I was scared from the first minute that man Weaver got a hold of me."

Weaver told patrol cars over the car radio: "I'll kill this kid if anybody tries to stop me!"

Weaver drove up to a house near here and shot through the locked door.

"A baby started crying and he said, 'Open up, lady, or I'll blow the kid's head off.' Still, nobody answered," Richard related.

Weaver then ran into the pecan grove, firing at patrolmen. One bullet struck Cpl. C. H. Bentley, 34, of Americus. Bentley escaped with a scalp wound.

Then Weaver began digging his foxhole to make a stand against the officers. He lay down all his weapons but one while he dug.

It was then that Benson fired. "When the policeman shot, it scared me and my hand touched a pistol," Richard said. "I just picked up the gun and started shooting. He had the pistol pointing at me and I thought he was still alive when I ran."

Officers said Weaver's body contained several bullet wounds but that he was dying when the boy fired the pistol.

Deputy J. J. McCrary said at Marianna that Weaver had no prior police record. "He always was very quiet; he just sat around brooding," McCrary said.

At Franklin, Ohio, firefighter Howard Harville said of Weaver: "This came as a shock to us. He always seemed like a nice-turned boy, not one to get into trouble."

Weaver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Weaver, left Franklin to come to Americus.

Another Franklin resident said, "That doesn't square with what we know about him. He didn't seem that type of boy."

A teacher at Franklin remembered Weaver as a poor student with a low IQ, although his two older brothers and a sister were college graduates. Young Weaver had few close friends in Franklin.

Weaver worked at a grocery store after graduation from high school four years ago, then left Franklin and joined the Air Force. He was stationed in Florida when the robbery occurred several months ago.

By The Associated Press

A flaming collision between a car apparently returning from a July Fourth outing and a tractor-trailer rig in Miami County early today killed three persons and pushed the number of dead in traffic accidents during the long holiday weekend to at least nine.

The collision between the car, which was towing a boat, and the truck carrying a load of hogs occurred shortly after midnight on U.S. 36 just east of Piqua.

The vehicles burst into flame after the crash and the bodies were burned so badly officials were unable to identify them immediately.

It was the first multiple-fatality accident reported thus far during the holiday period, which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and continues through midnight Sunday.

No other types of accidental deaths had been reported during the period.

Traffic officials have predicted that 27 persons will die on Ohio's highways before the holiday weekend is ended.

The fatalities:

Wednesday Night

Perry Wilson Jr., 16, Thompson (Geauga County), when his car collided with another at the Ohio

528-Ohio 166 intersection in Thompson Township (Geauga County).

Thursday

Douglas Alden Smith, 18, of near Bascom (Seneca County), victim of a hit-skip driver on a Loudon Township road in Seneca County.

Willie H. Wilson, 48, Sandusky, when his car failed to stop at a stopsign on Ohio 4 and Strub Road in Erie County and crashed into another car.

Phyllis Hanley, 19, Bay Village (Cuyahoga County), when the car she was in was wrecked at the Ohio 76-Ohio 57 intersection east of Elyria.

George E. Keyser, 14, Rt. 3, Wadsworth (Medina County), when he was struck by a car on Ohio 548 just south of Wadsworth.

Friday

Three persons, all unidentified, in a car-tractor-trailer collision on U.S. 36 about 1½ miles east of Piqua.

Long 8-Hour Coffee Break

No Work After Holiday

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Few people get much work done the day before a holiday. But on the day after a holiday practically no work at all is done in the average business office.

It is just a long eight-hour coffee break as the sunburned, mosquito-bitten survivors gather around and tell each other tall stories of what happened to them.

You wouldn't think it possible so many strange things could happen to so small a group of people on a single holiday in a civilized country.

"I was just lying there reading a book by Franz Kafka," says the homely young secretary. "When I saw this fellow struggling in the surf. So I swam out and pulled him ashore, and when I bent down to give him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation he reached up, took my hand, and asked me for a date every night next week."

And guess what—he's the son of a wealthy lawyer."

The lazy office boy limps in with a bandaged ankle, and explains: "Twisted it sliding into home plate with the winning run in the last of the ninth. Guess I'll be a little slow in distributing the mail for the next few weeks."

"When I looked through my binoculars I couldn't believe my eyes," remarks the office bird watcher. "There were two giant flabby-crested purple egrets. The Audubon Society says there haven't been any seen in this vicinity since 1877."

"I lifted a high one from the third tee," says the golf bug. "It looked a bit wide, but when it landed it beamed a squirrel, bounced to the left and rolled into the cup for a hole in one. I'm having the squirrel stuffed to prove it."

"I was stuck in a 15-mile highway tie-up for seven hours," says the senior salesman. "Four women gave birth before they could get to a hospital. My wife and I helped one lady deliver triplets, and she's so grateful she's going to name two of the babies after us."

"She plans to call the third child 'Jummy'—on account of her arrived during this traffic jam."

Fire Hits Church, Collection Salvaged

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $20,000 damage at the rectory of St. Phillip and James Catholic Church Thursday night, but a fire lieutenant saved the $3,000 Sunday collection that was in an office.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Look For Ways To Make Life Interesting

An 18-year-old has asked for help. She writes: "I am one of those people who have lost weight by not eating."

I've also gained almost all of my weight back again. You see, I've been on a diet for almost two years. I used to weigh 226 pounds and I did lose down to 130 pounds last summer. "This year I've gained back almost all my weight. Right now I weigh 185 pounds. The trouble is I work in a restaurant and I eat an awful lot. I am 18 years old and I just can't find clothes that look nice."

"I've tried to lose again by going on a diet, but I just can't do it. I've even gone hungry, but I can't seem to get going. Can you help me? I'd be so grateful!"

LET'S TRY something different! Substitute activity for excess food. Since you work in a restaurant, food is handy. However, this is probably not the basic reason you are overeating.

Analyze the situation. After you reduced, did your life become more exciting? Turning to food is so often an escapism. Decide what is missing in your life and tackle the reducing from that angle. Overeating will never make up for lack of interests. What you are missing on one level can't be fixed with food.

Could you join a YWCA and start swimming? This exercise rears your feet while toning the figure - controlling muscles. Is there a TOPS Group in your vicinity? Write to TOPS Headquarters at 3180 South 27th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

SET UP SOME goals for yourself, making your first goal 16 pounds off in the right places. This will allow you to slip into a dress a size smaller. As a second goal, plan to join a dancing class the very next week you are 16 pounds slimmer. The brain is a goal-seeking mechanism, and it helps enormously to aim toward a rewarding achievement. The dance class can be ballroom dancing, or it can be a dance for exercise group. Either way it will make exercise more fun.

Get a new attitude toward your job. You work in a restaurant, so you can have all the good food you need to build slimmness. Change your food habits, make protein the backbone of each of the three meals. Have a protein pick-up at mid-morning and again at mid-afternoon. These snacks must be counted into the day's calories, but they help to prevent overeating at meals.

As you begin to feel slimmer, your compulsion to overeat will diminish amazingly. And here is more encouragement: when you make an effort to get into activities, then other chances present themselves. When you have absorbing interests you won't want to be stuffing yourself with too much food! Let us hear from you again. Happy slimming, honey!

Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for Choose To Lose Diet, also Hunger Control Diet. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Report Given Newell Post; Dues Boosted

Reports from student delegates to Boys' State, a project to aid Newell volunteer firemen in their annual celebration, and an increase in dues were reviewed at a meeting of Newell American Legion Post 114 Wednesday night.

James Seever and Samuel Simmons of Wells High School reported on activities at Mountain-Boys State at Jackson's Mill. They were sponsored by the post.

A project was approved to help finance the appearance of several area high school bands in the Newell firemen's parade July 24—highlight of a week-long celebration. The fireman's parade and a Kiddie's Parade will feature a carnival and other activities.

The post agreed to co-sponsor for the second time a project outlined by service officer Mike Sweeney of Chester Post 121 in which a group of veterans from Veterans Hospitals will be given a "freeday" at Waterford Park race track July 26.

Due to an increase in dues to both state and national headquarters, Post 114 membership cards have been raised to $5 from $4 and will be available next week.

Hum Away As Mortals Sleep

Electronic Computers Have Secret Night Life

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Electronic computers have a secret night life. While mortals are asleep, the computers are humming away writing letters, poems, music, and playing games such as checkers or solving chess problems.

They do these things by night because their time is scarce and expensive. Their daytime hours must be put to more practical uses. The latest British computer, Atlas, built by Ferranti and used by Manchester University, for instance, costs $2,000 an hour to hire.

Electronic computers can cope with an amazing range of mathematical problems. They can calculate the stresses on an aircraft's wings while it is still on the drawing board, solve economic problems such as the most economic way of distributing goods from a number of plants, calculate wages, produce life expectancy tables for insurance firms, analyze surveys and predict election results.

Why then, should computers be used to write music, poems, letters and play games in their spare time?

The late Prof. Alan M. Turing once said the principal motive was the sheer fun of the thing. But it

Mr. and Mrs. Silverthorne are residing at 607 Ray Ave., New Philadelphia.

Thirty-one members of the Business and Professional Women's Club were dinner guests at the Lions Cottage Tuesday evening. The men served the dinner.

Reports Given Mrs. Annetta Courtney, new president of the club, presided at the brief business meeting, when reports of various committees and activities of the club during the Morgan's Raid Centennial were discussed.

"The Choral Tones" of East Liverpool, comprised of Cathy McKinnon, Janet Brokaw, Mary Comp, Sherry Johnson and Nila Birtche, provided entertainment. Games were in charge of Mrs. Dennis Johnson and Mrs. John Vokovich. Guests were Mrs. Ruth Pasco of Salem and Mrs. Pat McKinnon of East Liverpool.

No August Session There will be no meeting in August.

The Women's Guild of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ met Tuesday at the church for a "work day" and covered dinner.

Mrs. Edwin Carroll, Mrs. Richard Bloor and Mrs. George M. Smith were hostesses.

The group of 29, including four members of the Girl's Guild, made 600 4x4 gauze cancer pads for the Columbiana County Chapter of the American Cancer Society and also started work on a new quilt.

Mrs. Kenneth Clapsaddle, president, conducted business in the afternoon session, when Guild members were reminded of the visitation day at the Home for the Aged at Upper Sandusky, Thursday, July 25. Those interested may contact one of the Guild

2 Youths Hurt As Auto Flips Off Of Berm

An effort to avoid a possible collision with another vehicle on a narrow Wellsville area road resulted in injury to a 17-year-old Wellsville youth and a young passenger Thursday when their auto overturned down an embankment.

The mishap was one of two reported over the July 4th holiday by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said James Bright, son of Mrs. Betty Bright of 811 Broadway, Wellsville, was headed west on Pleasant Valley Rd. about seven-tenths of a mile northwest of Wellsville at 5:20 p.m. when he pulled to the right to avoid an oncoming car.

The 1961 sedan went onto the berm, which apparently gave way, and the car turned over down an embankment.

Bright was treated at City Hospital for lacerations of the right thigh and elbow, and a passenger — John Healey, 4, of Canal Fulton — was treated for a cut of the right leg.

Scott Healey, 16, also of Canal Fulton, was uninjured. The auto was damaged extensively officers said.

Frank E. Foreman, 38, of Pittsburgh was cited by the patrol after his van-type truck struck the rear of an auto on Route 30 in the Substation area yesterday morning.

Officers said his truck hit the rear of a car operated by Richard L. Brown, 47, of Akron. No one was injured, the patrol said. There was minor damage to the truck and moderate damage to the auto, they added.

Foreman was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Mishap Hurts Newell Girl, 8

A Newell girl injured at Thompson Park and a New Cumberland area child hurt by a fish hook were among eight area residents treated at City Hospital Thursday following separate mishaps.

Carol Givens, 8, daughter of James Givens, 600 Harrison St., Newell, suffered a laceration of the left knee in a fall while running at Thompson Park.

A fish hook became lodged in the lower lip of Ronald Nalley, 14-month-old son of Robert Nalley of New Cumberland R. D., while he was playing in the garage at home and placed the hook in his mouth.

John Johnston, 10, son of Mrs. Cecilia Johnston, 215 Walnut St., suffered a fractured wrist in a fall while wrestling at home.

Edward Spencer, 26, of Chester R. D. 1 received a laceration of the right hand when a windshield of an auto broke while he was placing it in the car.

Pamela Joy, 4, daughter of Charles Joy of McDonald Heights, Wellsville, suffered a fracture of the right collarbone in a fall from bed.

Edward Burdine, 3, son of Edward Burdine, 1191 Pennsylvania Ave., received a laceration of the right knee in a fall.

Ralph Wagner, 22, of Empire was treated for a cut of the left forearm suffered when he slipped on loose stones and fell against a window.

Francis Barbuto, 35, of Pittsburgh received an injury to his right thumb on which a car door closed.

3 Generations Involved
President Relaxes After Frenzied 4th For Family

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy planned to relax today along the Cape Cod shore after a frenzied Fourth of July for the Kennedy family.

Three generations of Kennedys were involved Thursday in such matters of urgency as a potential national railroad strike, a birth, an operation and the President's reunion with his wife and two children after a 10-day trip to Europe.

Today, Kennedy looked forward to nothing more strenuous than routine conferences with some of his staff and an afternoon cruise on Nantucket Sound.

The vacation lasts only until Monday when Kennedy flies back to Washington. But it does provide his longest respite in weeks from wrestling with racial and other domestic issues and from the strain of his visits to Germany, Ireland, England and Italy.

The President hadn't seen his family since he flew to Europe June 22. And he barely made it here to greet them at the end of the holiday. He conferred at the White House with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz on the rail strike threatened for midnight Wednesday, then boarded the presidential jet and took off for the cape.

About the same time, Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy were flying by helicopter from Hyannis Port to Boston, where she gave birth Thursday night to a 6-pound, 14-ounce boy. He is their fifth son. They also have three girls. The baby is the second of the children born on July 4. The other is the eldest, Kathleen, 12.

For the patriarch of the Kennedys, former ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, it was the 21st grandchild.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's wife, Joan, wound up in another hospital Thursday. A 30-minute operation removed an abscess from the inside of her throat. Sen. Kennedy, D-Mass., and his wife also were vacationing here.

Ambassador Kennedy was sitting on the porch of his home in the "Kennedy compound" and the first lady and two children were standing on the lawn when a helicopter brought the President from nearby Otis Air Force Base.

Tow-headed Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2, rushed to their daddy with outstretched arms. They got a hug and a kiss. Then it was Mrs. Kennedy's turn, and it was a warm embrace. Finally the President walked up to the porch and thrust out a hand to his father, who never has recovered from a stroke suffered in December 1961.

The President's wife is expecting another baby late next month. She plans to spend most of the waiting time at the rambling, gray-shingled home on Squaw Island which she and her husband have rented for the summer.

Driver Falls Asleep, Killed In Accident

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—A 53-year-old Mount Gilead man was killed early today when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car on Interstate 71 and swerved into another car, the Highway Patrol reported.

Killed was Vensel Baughman of Rt. 3, Mount Gilead.

His car struck one going in the same direction which was driven by Richard Leon Fox Jr., 31, of Youngstown. The patrol did not know the extent, if any, of his injuries.

The accident occurred three-tenths of a mile north of the Ashland-Richland County line in Ashland County.

Cleveland Workers Average 40.6 Hours

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce says the average factory work week in Cleveland during June was 40.6 hours, the longest in nearly four years. The information was contained in a survey covering 100 large plants in greater Cleveland.

The survey showed 54 plants added to payrolls during June, while 15 held at May levels and 31 were slightly lower. The 100 plants had a total of 96,603 employees as of June 25, up 253 for the month.

Boy Has Narrow Escape In Bid To Save 75 Cents

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Some teen-agers never learn the value of a dollar. But Alvin Payton Jr., 16, of Willowich nearly paid with his life trying to save 75 cents.

Payton was rescued dramatically from the locked trunk of a car that plunged into eight feet of water in a Geauga County lake Thursday. He had hid in a car to keep from paying 75 cents admission to the park.

The boy was in poor condition at Geauga Community Hospital after being revived by artificial respiration. Three other boys were in the car when the mishap occurred. They helped rescue Payton.

A passerby, Raymond Jankowski Jr., 21, of Cleveland, heard the three boys who had escaped from the car screaming of Payton's plight.

Jankowski dived in the water. The driver, Gary Wisdom, 17, of Eastlake, found the ignition key. Jankowski and the other boys opened the trunk and removed Payton. He was unconscious and blue. Stitches were taken in his knuckles, which he apparently injured trying to claw his way out of the trunk.

Message Passed To Party Leaders

Rockefeller Will Pursue Bid For GOP Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—The firm message has been passed to Republican leaders that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has every intention of pursuing vigorously his quest for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

At what some of his friends believe is the low mark of his popularity, the New York governor is depicted as determined to stay in the contest for a nomination some party members thought he had forfeited when he married the divorced mother of four children.

As evidence of the Rockefeller intentions, associates point to the maintenance at full strength of the presidential task force of trained assistants the governor has been assembling in New York City and Albany for several years.

They cite the quiet Rockefeller selling job being carried on by George L. Hinman, New York Republican national committeeman. Hinman, who heads the presidential task force with headquarters in Rockefeller Plaza, is emphatic about his man's availability.

Rockefeller himself is reported to feel that politically things have got so bad they are bound to get better. From an acknowledged top running position he has plummeted to a level at which, for the moment, he can count with certainty on not much more than New York's convention support.

This circumstance finds Republicans divided on the issue of whether the governor will stick it out, despite the assurances coming out of New York.

One prominent party member who maintains neutrality between prospective presidential nominees said he isn't so sure.

"He quit in 1959 when there was a whole lot less reason for him to get out than there is now," this Republican said. "If he could change his mind then, he could change it again."

A Rockefeller booster said the situation isn't the same as that in which the governor found the field had been sewed up for the nomination of then Vice President Richard M. Nixon. He added that nobody is likely to get a pre-convention lock on the nomination as Nixon did.

Some steps are being taken aimed at brightening the governor's political image.

Rockefeller's associates believe a settlement is near by which his wife's four children by her previous marriage can be with their mother part of the time.

The involvement of the children seems to have heightened criticism of the marriage far beyond the point the governor expected. The belief is that this could be mitigated by satisfactory custody arrangements publicly announced.

De Gaulle And Adenauer Discuss Market, Britain

BONN, Germany (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met today to discuss what kind of relations the Common Market should have with Britain.

The U.S. government was keenly interested in the discussion. It wants Britain admitted to the six-nation Common Market to keep it in close Atlantic partnership with the United States.

De Gaulle prefers to keep the Common Market a closed corporation, dominated by France. He envisions a third power equal to both the United States and the Soviet Union.

The meetings today were the windup of two days of French-West German talks, first conference under the two nations treaty of cooperation designed to end their long enmity.

There was no indication that Adenauer and Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard had made any progress in reconciling De Gaulle's "third force" concept with President Kennedy's desire for a close transatlantic partnership. But there also was no indication that De Gaulle had swung Adenauer and Erhard from their espousal of Kennedy's view.

The only new agreement announced after the first day's talks was for an exchange of language-teaching officers and soldiers in small groups.

Last January De Gaulle vetoed Britain's application to join France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg in the Common Market.

The French have held out against close ties of any kind between the Common Market and the British.

Crowd Of 40,000 Watches Weirton Centennial Parade

WEIRTON — An estimated 40,000 saw Weirton's colorful July 4th Centennial Parade featuring 35 floats, bands and state officials Thursday morning.

The turnout for the 2½-hour parade was double that of last year.

Twenty-three of the floats were from the West Virginia Centennial "float pool." The entries travel from city to city in the statewide observance. They cost $4,000 each.

The float entered by the local Steelworkers Union won first prize.

Among the many state officials present were Gov. W. W. Barron, U.S. Sen. Jennings Randolph and State Supreme Court Judge Fred Caplan.

Hancock Civil Action Will Go To Jury Soon

NEW CUMBERLAND — Trial of a $150,000 civil suit underway in Hancock County Circuit Court since Monday neared the jury today, with the summoning of rebuttal witnesses.

Constable Harold Davis of Chester was recalled to testify this morning as the trial resumed after a recess for Thursday's holiday.

Leo Kahle Eberhart and his wife, Mrs. Ella Eberhart, seek damages for personal injuries received in a traffic accident at the foot of the Route 30 grade in Chester May 27, 1959. They list as defendants Dana Smith, the Eclipse Motor Lines and Earl Moore.

Each defendant has filed counter-claims. The jury of 12 men will be asked to return five verdicts.

City Motorist Cited In Route 213 Mishap

A city man was cited after a one-car accident Thursday at 5:05 p.m. on Route 213 a half mile south of the junction with Route 7 near Yellow Creek, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Francis L. Taylor, 21, of 133 W. 2nd St. was headed north when he lost control on a curve and his car went off the right side of the highway. The car then swerved and went off the left side of the road striking a guardrail and utility pole.

There were four passengers in the car. No one was hurt. Taylor was cited for driving left of center.

Driver's Hearing Set

NEW CUMBERLAND — Edward A. Ross, 49, of Weirton was cited Thursday on N. Chester St. on a charge of improper passing. Police Chief William Webster reported. A hearing is slated Monday night before Municipal Judge John D. Herron.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: For years I have enjoyed corn on the cob. But getting the butter on the corn and keeping it there can be exasperating. But it's easily remedied. Put the butter on the concave side of your fork and then rub the convex side along the ear

Rapid and efficacious!

MR. J. G. BARRY.

DEAR HELOISE: Please tell your mothers not to cut up those old sheets and make small sheets for the new baby's bassinet. It's a waste. . . . Use old pillow cases or make cases from the old sheets. These will fit exactly over the mattress in a bassinet.

A sheet usually needs to be changed at the exact moment that mother's hamburger is burning. But if you use pillow cases, the mattress may be turned over and the case is all fresh and clean on the other side.

I suggest that mothers place a piece of rubber sheeting in the bottom of the bassinet before putting in the mattress. Then bassinet will always be clean.

MOMMY.

DEAR HELOISE: There are only two left in our family . . . our kids are all grown, married, etc., so we use lots of frozen dinners — both commercially processed and homemade.

I have found that instead of lighting the oven to cook the metal trays of food that I can use my electric roaster. I can put two dinners in it, and without wasting an oven full of heat or getting my kitchen hot, these two dinners cook beautifully.

COUPLE.

And did you know . . . that you could also take some types of frozen dinners out of the freezer ahead of time and let them thaw completely before placing them in your oven or cookers, especially if they are homemade and the food is entirely cooked. You not only save time but fuel because they don't have to cook as long. Try it!

HELOISE.

FRAGRANT LAUNDRY

DEAR HELOISE: I like the odor of our favorite cologne. I always add a few drops before I pour the water into our steam iron.

I have been using this hint for years. So far it has never hurt my steam iron.

All of our clothes, that we iron, carry this fragrant odor which seems to come from nowhere! Our closets and chests-of-drawers even smell fragrant.

Dresses, handkerchiefs and, yes . . . even blue jeans!

Besides, now it's a pleasure to do the ironing with the sweet aroma. . . .

VIC.

DEAR HELOISE: When brewing tea in quantity for hot or iced tea . . . fasten all the cardboard tags which are on the end of the string of each tea bag with . . . guess what? A pinch-type clothes pin!

Put the tea bags in the water and let the clothes pin hang over the edge of the container.

After the tea is brewed, you can remove all the bags at once by lifting the clothes pin!

March Sponsored By NAACP

Mayor And Negro Leader Jeered At Chicago Rally

CHICAGO (AP) — An angered Mayor Richard J. Daley and a Negro church leader were jeered from the speaker's platform at a Fourth of July rally which gathered an estimated 20,000 persons on Chicago's downtown lakefront.

Daley, boss of the Democratic party in Illinois, led a 3 1/2-mile "Freedom March" through the downtown area sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The march and rally were arranged in connection with the NAACP's national convention. The convention sessions, suspended for Independence Day, resume today.

More than 100 whites and Negroes waved anti-Daley placards as they rushed down the aisles to the platform. The placards reflected claims of segregation in Chicago schools and ghetto conditions in Negro sections of the city. "Tokenism must go," they shouted each time the mayor attempted to speak. "Down with ghetto! Daley must go!"

The din raised by the demonstrators, a number of them bearded, forced Daley to stop after he said: "We recognize your problem, and are trying to do something about it."

But flustered, red-faced and angry, the deep-voiced Daley gave up after several starts on his welcoming address and thundered into the microphone. "I recognize a contingent of the Republican party is here," then walked off.

The Negro church leader, the Rev. J. H. Jackson, also was shouted down. He is president of the National Baptist Convention which claims 5 million Negro members.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., was enthusiastically cheered before and after his speech, although he urged a policy of moderation and non-violence such as that practiced by the late Mohandas Gandhi in India.

Hecklers called Dr. Jackson "Uncle Tom" when he tried to speak. He had addressed the convention earlier, an aide said, and suggested Negroes should begin a two-month quiet period without demonstrations.

The demonstrations, along with some minor heckling of Roy Wilkins, a Negro and executive secretary of the NAACP, appeared to be expressions of impatience over the pace of integration.

Only New York and four Southern states have more Negroes than Illinois. More than 810,000 of the state's 1.1 million Negroes live in Chicago.

Pesticides Possible Cause

Scientists Eyeing Riddle Endangering Bald Eagle

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Scientists at the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center near here are trying to solve a riddle that may threaten the existence of America's national bird, the bald eagle.

There are only about 4,000 bald eagles in the United States, excluding Alaska, and there has been a severe drop recently in the number of young eagles being born.

"Breeding success in some areas is almost nil," said Dr. William Stickel, one of those directing the research at the center.

This is especially true along the Atlantic Coast, where only about one in ten attempts by bald eagles to raise their young succeeded last year.

The investigation has centered on pesticides as the possible cause.

The Patuxent center proved in research begun in 1945 that sublethal doses of pesticides lower the capacity of bobwhite and quail to reproduce.

Pesticides have been found in varying quantities in the carcasses of eagles, including one which observers watched die on James-town Island in Virginia.

But Dr. John L. Buckley, director of the wildlife research center, said he was not yet convinced pesticides are the cause of the eagles' failure to reproduce. He added, however, he also wasn't convinced that pesticides were not the cause.

Researchers at Patuxent are working along two lines. The center has requested that all bald eagles found dead be sent to Patuxent for examination.

Dr. James B. DeWitt, who has charge of this phase of the research, said 37 of the first 38 eagles tested showed residues of pesticides. The other was killed accidentally at an airport in Alaska. Pesticides also were found in four eagle eggs which did not hatch.

The second phase of the program has been carried out at a station in Alaska, where there are more bald eagles than in the rest of the United States. Researchers from Patuxent center trapped eagles on the Chilkat River in southeastern Alaska and sent them to nearby Petersburg.

There the birds were fed diets laced with carefully controlled amounts of pesticides.

Dr. Stickel said the researchers hope to find from this study how pesticide builds up in the body

Police Probe Minor Thefts

East Liverpool police today are investigating four theft cases reported over the holiday.

Officers said an undetermined amount of change was stolen from a coin-operated music box in Berlie's Diner, 461 Mulberry St., about 12:50 a.m. today.

An unidentified person forced open the coin box of the machine while a waitress was in a restroom, officers said. The machine is owned by Hune, Inc., 237 W. 8th St., officers said.

Jay Mason, 1073 Mapletree St., told police Wednesday a transistor radio valued at $10.95 was stolen from his auto while it was parked on a lot on Dresden Ave.

An intruder entered the home of Mrs. Wanda Petyak, 1611 Holiday St., sometime between midnight Tuesday and 2 p.m. Wednesday, but no loss was reported, officers said. Entry apparently was gained via a cellar door, police said.

Milford Carter of Harker Ave. told police a fifth of gin was stolen from a cupboard in his home about 10:30 p.m. Thursday.

He said two men entered the home and stole the bottle while he slept.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You hear a great deal these days about women who wear the pants in the family. Much of the criticism is valid. All around us we see evidence that women are taking over the male role — and making hash out of their husbands.

But what about the men who want to wear the skirts in the family? I happen to be married to one and it's murder.

My husband is a kettle lid lifter, a taster and a salt adder. It doesn't matter what is cooking, he always can do something to improve the flavor.

He also tells me how to hang pictures (he's an antisymmetry man), how to arrange flowers, where to put the furniture and how to sew on buttons.

Am I wrong to be insulted? He makes me feel like an idiot. Please tell me what can be done about this kind of man. — OUT-SKIRTED.

Dear Out: Nothing. So don't try. It's a personality quirk and has nothing whatever to do with your competence. Some people (both men and women) aren't happy unless they have the last word. It makes them feel important. So don't fight it — understand it.

Fogies At Forty

Dear Ann: Something happened yesterday that made me realize how out of date we old fogies in our 40s are! Please print this letter. I believe there is a moral here.

My daughter Hilda, age 20, has been asked to be a bridesmaid for an August wedding. We went together to select a gift for the bride. I suggested a silver bread tray with the bride's initials.

Hilda exclaimed, "Why mother, girls don't want their silver engraved any more! If the marriage doesn't work out she can't use the stuff unless her second husband's name happens to start with the same letter!"

I sheepishly withdrew my suggestion and confessed I had just not "kept up with the times."

Where are we heading, Ann Landers, when young people think can toss it aside like a sour plum after one bite? Please comment. —MUSEUM PIECE AT 42.

Dear Museum Piece: Where are we heading? Toward an increased divorce rate which is now at an all-time high. Toward an increased number of half-orphaned children. Toward more delinquency. Toward an increasingly sick society.

Our children need models, not critics. Too many young people have no example to follow because their own parents are either at war — or divorced.

More About Tea Bags

Dear Ann: A further postscript on tea bags, if you please: Canadians treat American tea bags with the same suspicion that Yankees reserve for South American drinking water.

Please, Ann, if you would help civilize America, let it be known that tea is never made in a cup. It must be brewed in a pot.

We Canadians believe in aiding our underdeveloped allies, so pass the word. And, Ann, when you have advanced to this point, you may then consider the next step: The best tea never is found in a tea bag; it can be purchased only in bulk.

Furthermore, you must use a sterling silver strainer, the tea must be served in Royal Crown Derby china and naturally you must wear a hat and kid gloves. Keep up the fight. You have nothing to fear but tea that is served in American restaurants. —BLAIR K.

Dear Blair: Since you have accepted our warheads I will accept your advice. Thank you for writing.

Can't Break Up A Winner . . .

In any sport if you have a winning combination, you don't break it up very often. And this seems to be the reason Bernie Allen is not playing regularly these days with the Minnesota Twins.

We talked to Floyd Baker, a coach for the Twins, Wednesday night by phone from his hotel in Detroit.

We asked Baker about Allen, the East Liverpool lad who Baker was instrumental in signing to a Twins' contract. Allen has been riding the bench since June 22 and we wondered why.

"Bernie was physically and mentally tired two weeks ago. He had played in more games than any other member of the team, including the exhibition games. We gave him a rest and used Johnny Goryl," Baker replied.

"At the same time, the Twins started a winning streak. Since Goryl was in there at second we didn't want to break up a winning combination so we left him in and he started hitting.

"The coaching staff felt that Bernie was tired and beginning to worry about his batting average. And don't let his average fool you for he was hitting the ball well, but it just wasn't dropping.

"He is now hitting the ball well in practice and it shouldn't be long until he is back at second base."

Allen's entry back to the starting lineup may be slowed somewhat by a sore arm. If the arm responds to treatment he should be ready to go in the next few days. He injured the arm making a double play throw during infield practice. Bernie had treatment on the arm during the Detroit series.

The Twins had their eight-game winning streak broken Wednesday at Detroit, then dropped a double-header Thursday. Allen broke into the first game of yesterday's twin bill and came up with a pinch hit single for pitcher Bud Dailey. So maybe it won't be long now until he will be back at his regular post.

Previously he had been used as a runner and at second base as a defensive measure in the late innings.

IN THIS month's issue of Sports magazine, Allen was ranked as the third best second baseman in the American League in a poll of managers, the men who should know.

Cincy Thinking Basketball . . .

DOWN Cincinnati way they're thinking about basketball already and how to get back that NCAA championship that was lost last March to Loyola.

Kenny Cunningham, the East Liverpool product who is working with young basketball talent in the YMCA Outdoor League this summer at the E. 4th St. court, figures very prominently in the Bearcats' plans.

Cincy U. reports that a complete new cast will take over in the back court, where there's a healthy four-way tussle for starting honors.

Juniors Fritz Meyer 5-10 and Cunningham 5-11 have a slight edge on the basis of limited sophomore duty, but newcomers Dave Cosby 6-3½ and Roland West 6-4 will press them.

"No question there's talent in this group, but all are relatively untested and under fire. Meyer has poise and looks like the quarterback type. Cunningham has especially quick hands and is a fine passer. He is equipped with excellent speed and could become one of the finest UC defensive guards when he gains confidence," the university reports.

For the big men, Cincinnati has All-Americans Ron Bonham, 6-5, and George Wilson, 6-8, returning and the ideal situation would be to have sophomore Ron Krick, who stands 6-8, in the pivot.

Krick sat out last year to have corrective surgery on both shoulders, which were dislocated in his freshman season.

Stuart 'Grand Slams' Houk . . .

BEST comment of the week which will stir the pot in the American League was made by Dick Stuart, the big first baseman of the Boston Red Sox by way of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Stuart, who finished second in the balloting for the All-Star game among first basemen in the American League, was overlooked by Yankee manager Ralph Houk who will handle the Americans next Tuesday at Cleveland.

Stuart's retort was "It's tough to have a third-string catcher like Ralph Houk keep you off the All-Star team, how would he know about how important it is to be on an All-Star team? He never made one in his life. All he ever did was sit in the dugout."

Houk replied "I don't blame him for being angry. I'm sorry he feels that way about it, but a manager can't always stick to the second choice in the balloting."

Stuart claims that he is going to tell Houk exactly what he thinks of him when he sees him.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

GARY BERHAR, a standout on Beaver Local football and baseball teams, was given another tryout with the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday at Forbes Field.

Gary was with an original group of 60 candidates who tried out with the Buccos. That number was cut to 20 and asked to return Tuesday.

The Pirates are interested in the big first baseman, and plan to contact him later. He is wallowing the baseball pretty well for Manager John Anderson's Friendly Bowling - Merchants team in the County-City League.

SEVERAL oldtime baseball players in the district remember Earl Victor Moseley, who died Monday in Alliance.

Moseley's early baseball days were spent at East Liverpool when the city was a member of Ohio-Pennsylvania League.

Moseley claimed the distinction of pitching in three Major Leagues. He was with the Boston Red Sox in the American Circuit, Cincinnati in the National League and Indianapolis in the old Federal League, the self-styled third Major League which operated around 1914.

Haney Pitches One-Hitter In Minor Loop Tilt

Rogers Drive-In posted a 13-5 victory over M & A Motors, Pottery Savings & Loan donated First National, 10-3 and Pusateri's upended Pottery Bank & Trust, 9-7, in Minor League action Wednesday.

John Haney pitched a one-hitter and fanned 11 batters and Mike Galino and Dutch Wright came up with two hits for Rogers. Mike Horosko got the only hit for M & A.

Rick Aaron and Jim Parsons socked three hits for Pottery Savings with Rick Welch the winning pitcher. Jim Jones doubled and singled for the losers.

Winning pitcher Norm McHenry slammed a double and two singles for Pusateri's. Jerry Bibbee came up with two hits for the Pottery.

Yanks 4½ In Front At Halfway Mark

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Past performances charts show the odds are 2-1 in favor of the club heading the American League field on July Fourth finishing first at the wire.

It's happened that way 41 times in the league's past 62 seasons.

But chances are you'd have to give much better than 2-1 on the New York Yankees, who wound up the holiday halfway mark leading the race by 4½ lengths.

The Yanks were outsized choices to hang up their fourth straight pennant and 27th over-all at the outset of the season and by now must rate about the surest bet in baseball.

The Yankees picked up one-half game on the holiday program Thursday, even though they managed only a split with the Chicago White Sox. Behind left-hander Whitey Ford's pitching and a late-game scoring burst, they romped in the opener 9-1—winning their seventh straight and third in a row over Chicago—before dropping a 4-2 decision.

The Detroit Tigers put a double damper on hopeful Minnesotans, beating the Twins 5-3 and 3-1; and Jerry Kindall hit key home runs as Cleveland set back Boston twice, 4-3 in 14 innings and 7-5.

The results moved the White Sox back into second, 4½ games behind the Yanks, dropped Minnesota into third, 5 games off the pace, and left fourth-place Boston 6½ games out.

In other AL action—Washington swept its first doubleheader of the year, 2-1 and 3-2 over Kansas City, with John Wyatt balking across the winning run in the opener and walking it across in the second game; and Baltimore completed a three-game sweep of Los Angeles, trimming the Angels 7-4.

Ford, winning his ninth straight for a 13-3 record, struck out 12 and did not allow a runner past first base until the ninth inning. Elston Howard and Roger Maris homered for the Yanks.

Nellie Fox' first homer of the season with a man on in the sixth was the big hit in Chicago's second game victory. Juan Pizarro, 10-4, was the winner with strong relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm. Gary Peters of the White Sox and Bill Stafford of the Yanks were the losing pitchers.

The Tigers built early leads in both games in pinning the two losses on the Twins. Norm Cash's two-run single in the first inning and two more runs in the third gave Detroit all it needed in the opener, won by Phil Regan.

In the second game, the Tigers broke a 1-1 tie in the third on Rocky Colavito's double and singles by Bubba Phillips and George Thomas. Hank Aguirre turned in a six-hitter.

Jim Hall, Rich Rollins and John Goryl homered for the Twins, whose losing pitchers were Lee Stange and Jim Kaat.

Gary Bell allowed just one hit in five innings of relief in the first game at Cleveland and became a winner when Kindall socked the first pitch thrown by Hal Klotz in the bottom of the 14th for a homer. Fred Whitfield homered twice for the Indians' first three runs.

In the second game, Cleveland shattered a 2-2 tie against Chet Nichols with a four-run barrage. Jim Grant went all the way for the Indians although allowing 11 hits, including Red Sox homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Gary Geiger and Lu Clinton.

Cleveland's Early Wynn pitched six shutout innings in the opener but was frustrated once more in his bid for a 300th big league victory.

Dark's All-Star Choices Point Up Balanced Squad

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A team selected for balance, not individual heroics, will represent the National League in Tuesday's All-Star baseball game.

Manager Alvin Dark had to throw out tradition to get the club he wants.

Dark's 17 selections, augmenting the eight starters selected by the players, were announced Thursday and failed to include three of eight men who finished second in player balloting.

"The second choices mean nothing," said the champion San Francisco Giants skipper. "I feel this is the strongest squad we have and we're going to Cleveland to win."

He omitted second choices Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati and second baseman Ken Hubbs of Chicago, and also passed up Jim Maloney, Cincinnati's 12-3 right-hander.

"The starting line-up will play most of the game," explained Dark. "So I picked the best club I could from a utility standpoint."

He named eight pitchers, including four lefties, two catchers, four outfielders and three infielders.

Dark said he hopes to use no pitcher more than two innings "because it wouldn't be fair to their club." For that reason he also tried to avoid naming two pitchers from any team, though Los Angeles Dodgers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale did make the squad.

"I also know some won't be able to pitch much because they're pitching Sunday," added Dark. This group is expected to include Koufax or Drysdale, San Francisco's Juan Marichal and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn. The latter two opposed each other for 16 innings Tuesday night.

With six right-handed hitters among his eight starters, exclusive of the pitcher, Dark selected a bevy of left-handed pinch-hitters including outfielders Stan Musial of St. Louis, Duke Snider of New York and the Giants' Willie McCovey.

"The chances are that Willie Mays and Hank Aaron will play all the way in the outfield," said Dark. "but I have Roberto Clemente (of Pittsburgh) who can play anywhere if I take an outfielder out."

Los Angeles' Tommy Davis is the other outfield starter.

First baseman Bill White, second baseman Julian Javier and shortstop Dick Groat, all of St. Louis, probably will play most of the game, said Dark. Javier replaces Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski, who can't fulfill his starting assignment because of an injury.

"I named Orlando Cepeda (of the Giants) to have a right-handed pinch-hitter and Maury Wills (of the Dodgers) can play second, short or third and is a good pinch-runner." He also picked Ron Santo of Chicago to back up third baseman Ken Boyer of the Cardinals.

The other pitchers will be Ray Culp of Philadelphia, Larry Jackson of Chicago, Cincinnati's Jim O'Toole and Hal Woodeshick of Houston. Koufax, Spahn, O'Toole and Woodeshick are the left-handers.

Johnny Edwards of Cincinnati and Joe Torre of the Braves are the reserve catchers. Jim Duffalo of the Giants and Milwaukee's Bob Hendley will throw batting practice to Giants' coach and former catcher Wes Westrum.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Phils and head coach Bob Kennedy from Chicago will be Dark's coaches.

Free Tennis Clinic At Thompson Park

A free tennis clinic will be held again Saturday morning at Thompson Park, sponsored by the East Liverpool Tennis Club.

Held Is Lost Several Days

CLEVELAND (AP) — Woodie Held, who has played the outfield and all infield positions except first base for the Cleveland Indians, has a bone chip on the index finger of his right hand and will be out of action from 10 to 14 days, the Indians announced today.

Held was injured in practice before Thursday's doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox, but he played second base in the opener. X-rays Thursday night revealed the extent of his injury.

The Indians also announced they were calling infielder Larry Brown from their Jacksonville farm club in the International League and that a player, yet to be named, would be sent out to make room for him on the roster.

Brown, brother of catcher Dick Brown of the Baltimore Orioles, has a .285 batting average with Jacksonville.

Ford Takes A 2-Stroke Lead Into Last Round

TORONTO (AP)—Old pro Doug Ford, who takes a two-stroke lead into today's third round of the Canadian Open Golf tournament, was talking about his own game, but the statement would apply much better to young Ed Moehling.

"In this tournament, you can get run over very easily," Ford said after his four-under-par 67 Thursday that gave him a 36-hole total of 136.

And Moehling, 22, on his first professional tour, would have to agree. The slim youngster from Mt. Prospect, Ill., held the first day lead with a brilliant 66, then floundered to a 78 and was eight strokes back going into today's play in the $50,000 tourney.

"I'm not too chipper," he admitted. "I was playing badly at the first hole and I just couldn't recover."

Ford, 40, on the other hand, said he was at the peak of his game. Herman Keiser, 48, who won the Masters in 1946 and retired from full-time tour competition in 1949, was in second with a 70-68-138 for 36 holes of the 6,419-yard, par 36-35-71 Scarborough Golf Club course.

Tied for third at 140 were Canadian George Knudson, 72-68, and George Bayer of Pasadena, Calif., 70-70.

Bunched at 141 were Dick Mayer of Palm Desert, Calif.; Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Gene Littler, Rancho Bernardo, Calif., and Jack Fleck of Los Angeles.

The bulky field of 156 was trimmed to 87 for the final two rounds, with 149 the cutoff figure after 36 holes.

The leaders:

Doug Ford 69-67-136
Herman Keiser 70-68-138
George Bayer 70-70-140
George Knudson 72-68-140
Dick Mayer 72-68-141
Jack Fleck 73-68-141
Dow Finsterwald 71-70-141
Gene Littler 72-68-141
Stan Leonard 72-70-142

Talbott Pitches One-Hitter As East End Ties For First

Gene Talbott, pitching for the second night in a row, hurled East End into a two-way tie for first place in the Chester City Softball League and came within an out of pitching a no-hitter.

As it was East End downed Hancock Savings and Loan, 4-1, for its ninth victory in 11 starts, the same record owned by New Cumberland.

Talbott owned a no-hitter with two outs in the seventh inning but Huff got to first base on Dawson's error and then Brown followed with a single, the only hit off the lanky Talbott.

Dawson led East End at the plate with a triple while Jones and Anderson doubled each.

Friday's game between the Chester Merchants and New Cumberland has been called off.

Vatican Due New Bid Soon For Mindszenty

VIENNA (AP)—The Vatican is expected to make new efforts soon to get Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to leave Hungary in exchange for concessions to the Communist government to the Roman Catholic Church.

Hungary has indicated it would not block Vatican appointments of bishops if it could be rid of Cardinal Mindszenty's awkward presence.

The prelate, 71, under life sentence on treason charges, has refused to leave the U.S. legation in Budapest, where he had lived since the Russians crushed the 1956 revolution.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, July 5th, the 180th day of 1963. There are 179 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1935, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Wagner-Connery bill, known later as the National Labor Relations Act. The law was designed to adjust standards of industrial employment conditions to modern industrial conditions.
On this date
In 1680, Father Hennepin discovered St. Anthony Falls near the site of what is now Minneapolis, Minn.
In 1798, Napoleon captured the Egyptian port of Alexandria.
In 1846, California declared its independence from Mexico.
In 1940, Britain severed diplomatic relations with the French Vichy government during World War II.
In 1945, Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced his resignation as secretary of the treasury.
Ten years ago...Heavy rain and floods curtailed Korean fighting while United Nations and Communist negotiators continued their attempts to arrange for an armistice.
Five years ago...Secretary of State Dulles rejected Premier Charles de Gaulle's appeal for U.S. aid in helping France to become a military nuclear power.
One year ago...Clashes in Oran, Algeria, between Moslems and Europeans took at least 50 lives in the wake of that nation's newly won independence.

Odd Facts

The only U.S. vice president who was married while in office was Alben W. Barkley, who married Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley in 1949, during the administration of Harry S. Truman.
"Boudoir" literally means a pouting or sulking place, instead of a place of retirement. It is derived from the French verb, "boudoir," meaning to pout.

Junior Editors Quiz on WOOD

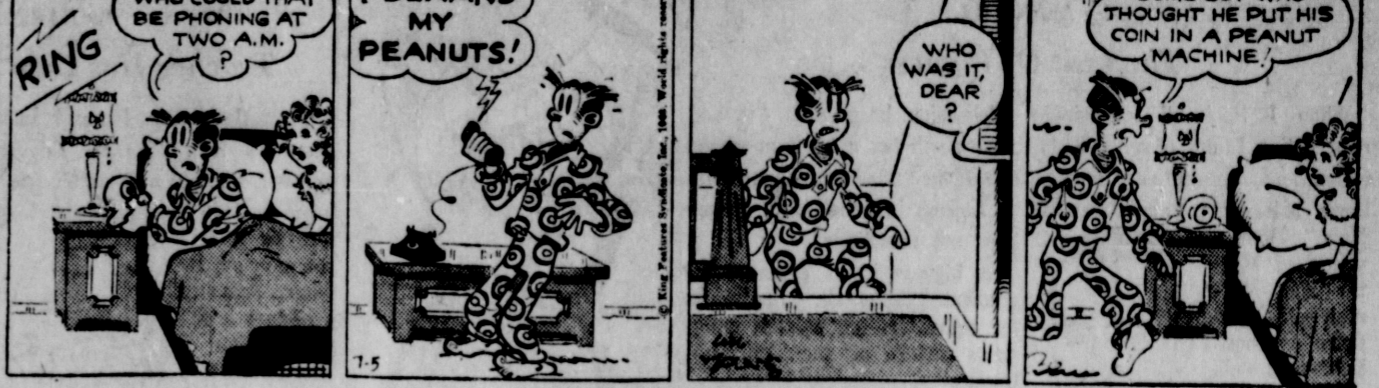

QUESTION: Why is balsa wood so light?

ANSWER: The balsa tree grows in southern Mexico and South America (A). When first cut the logs are heavy with sap, but as it dries out the wood becomes extremely light, twice as light as cork. This is because air fills the cells when dry. A man can carry an amazing amount of this dried out balsa on his shoulder (2). Also because of the air in it's cells balsa is extremely buoyant. We show the famous raft Kon Tiki (3) made of balsa logs, which drifted from the coast of Chile to the South Seas. Balsa is a wonderful material for making model airplanes and boats because it cuts so easily and is so smooth. Billy has made a simple, but good looking, plane from strips of balsa which he cut out according to a plan he bought. He has cemented the balsa pieces together. As he gets more expert, he will cover the balsa with light but tough tissue paper, sprinkled with water to dry out balsa wood plane or boat. You can get fine kits including the malleable "dope," giving a very realistic surface. Try making a model. Be sure you follow the directions carefully. Take your time and you'll get a better result.

FOR YOU TO DO: The voyage of the "Kon Tiki" was one of the strangest sea passages ever made. You'll enjoy reading about it in the book "Kon Tiki" by Thor Heyerdahl.

Joseph McElwee of Coatesville, Pa., wins the daily prize of a 20-volume World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

The Cult Of Bigness

When I think of television's capabilities, I think of space shots, coronations, conventions, elections, ball games and "See It Now." Then a vision of Martin and Mermaid sitting up there on those kitchen stools swims into view — or Duran Duran moving away from us through chips of light — or Dinah warbling the lyrics of Lorenz Hart. Then I get to Hubbell Robinson.

Alan Gill

Hubbell Robinson, as much as anyone else, was responsible for television's highest dramatic moments, with a program called "Playhouse 90."

It was Hubbell Robinson, too, who put on "The Seven Lively Arts," an uneven but sometimes triumphant show that had John Crosby wandering about amid (a) jazz musicians or (b) the rococo humors of S. J. Perelman.

More recently, Robinson has been the senior vice-president of CBS-TV, though to what extent he is responsible for the network's lustrous program schedule for next season I have no idea. . . . Anyway, he's out and forming his own independent production company.

OVER THE YEARS, then, nobody has dreamed grander dreams for adult TV viewers than Robinson. In Show magazine this month, one can see he's still dreaming big.

In an important article called "Television's Necessity," the man shows that he has been deeply affected by various audience studies that prove even the PhD's among us watch "77 Sunset Strip" sooner than the Philharmonic.

Then the man who put on Perelman, jazz and "Playhouse 90" says wearily: "The mass audience's predilection for the entertainment world's rubble is neither a fresh nor particularly disturbing facet of the television scene."

Television, he goes on, "is, and always will be, a medium whose competence must be measured by its success in penetrating majorities, not minorities."

Its bigness is its essential ingredient. After all, "the reach for bigness is part of the indigenous texture of the American Dream."

The "compelling necessity is to inject roughage into its almost totally bland diet" — meaning, more "thorns" in its drama, more "salt" in its comedy, more "theatricality" in its documentaries.

AT THE SAME time, "it must maintain an unswerving recognition of the audiences at which its shows are aimed."

In grasping for uniqueness, producers, writers and directors cannot go so far afield that they leave their audiences behind."

They "must make it easy, not difficult for the family to get caught up in the dramatic dilemma, to root for the protagonist."

Deliver a "body blow," he says; for "programming which creates watchers and reactors rather than starters is the industry's best long-run investment in its future."

He salutes a few of the saltier thornier shows around — e.g., "The Defenders," "Kildare," "Casey," even (backhandedly) "The Beverly Hillsbillies."

He plumps for accurate audience ratings, with the reminder that research cannot tell you "what will work in the future."

Most importantly, though, Robinson is saying that TV must enhance "its infinite capacity to talk to more millions than any other medium has ever been able to reach as frequently and with such penetration."

EVEN ROBINSON, it's obvious, has joined the cult of bigness. He watched falling ratings knock off "Playhouse 90" eventually; he watched them kill off "The Seven Lively Arts" in its infancy.

If you can't lick 'em, he seems to have concluded, join 'em.

Man Kills Wife, Grandson With Ax, Knives Self

SUTTON, W. Va. (AP) — A mentally disturbed Sutton man killed his wife and grandson with an ax yesterday, then took his own life with a butcher knife.

Hoy Prunty, 60, his wife, Rosa, 58, and their 6-year-old grandson, Stevie Prunty, were found dead by Braxton County sheriff's deputies after Stevie's mother had run for help.

Funeral home attendants said the bodies were badly mutilated. Stevie's mother, Pearl, suffered a cut on the shoulder before she was chased from the house. She had tried unsuccessfully to control the elder Prunty after he went berserk.

Teacher Has Own Ideas On Creativity

From Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, comes this: "As an English teacher, aged 25 and rather fresh from college, I could not help but be a bit annoyed by your apparent feeling that imagination is more important than correctness. The answer to the dilemma of how to encourage creative Dr. Garry Meyers writing while also encouraging correctness is quite clear to me. "Creative writing is a combination of imagination, capable handling of personal experience, grammar correct enough to give the reader a clear impression of what is going on and, most important of all, the ability to tell your story and write your poem so that it is real to the reader, so that the characters breathe and so that what is being told makes sense."

Much in the foregoing disagrees with what I have said from time to time about imagination in children in relation to creativity and this disagreement is welcomed.

THE LETTER CAME in response to an article of mine in this column in which I raised the question: How may we encourage creativity in the child while also teaching him correctness of expression?

I emphasized the importance of imagination and noted that most teachers seem to consider it less important than mechanical correctness and that some, indeed, almost ignore it in evaluating the quality of a child's writing.

Perhaps you have some practical suggestions to parents and teachers for stimulating creativity in the child while also cultivating correctness of expression.

My bulletins, "Beginnings of Imagination" and "Stimulate Your Child's Imagination," may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope of me in care of The Review.

THIS ABILITY does not come from imagination. In fact, the only point at which imagination is useful in creative writing is at the time when the story is conceived. Imagination spins the story or the poem but only when imagination is accompanied by the knowledge of the mechanics of writing well does it produce a product.

"As to what can be done about encouraging creative writing, the answer is simple. It does not need to be encouraged. Writers are born; they are not made. They
